

No Peace Terms Are Carried By Hess

were not allowed to see Hess.

Discussing the question of why Hess wanted to "escape," London sources said they presumed that it resulted from disagreement with other prominent Nazis and "the unbearable revulsion at associating with other members of the Nazi gang."

The Evening Standard declared that "Hitler fed his people on illusions; but illusions, like lies, do not live forever."

"Millions of Germans were deluded to regard the fuhrer as a great regenerator of a new and noble Germany," the newspaper added, "and no better man could have been selected than the much-beloved vice-fuhrer to reveal Hitler for what he is—the enemy of Germany as he is the enemy of all men."

"The terrible myth is stripped bare. The awful legend is killed. It has been stabbed by its first disciple."

This it declared, showed that "the core of Germany is rotten." Hess was in uniform. So far as was known officially, he made the flight of some 800 miles alone.

A questioner who inquired whether the flight might be a Nazi trick got this reply: "If it is a trick, it is a very strange one."

He was said to have bailed out apparently when he ran short of gasoline. It was presumed he chose Scotland because there was less chance of encountering British planes there.

It was recalled that Hess had made one of the principal speeches at Hitler's birthday celebration on April 20, aboard the fuhrer's flower festooned special railway train somewhere behind the Balkan front.

The standard went on to say that "Herr Hess occupied a peculiar position in the Nazi party."

"He was handicapped neither by the physical idiosyncrasies of Field Marshal Goering, nor by the mental blemishes of Dr. Goebbels," it said.

"He was in one sense the original Nazi. More than any other of the party leaders, he was the embodiment of the Nazi faith."

"He was supposed to provide a clean, wholesome veneer which covered the intrinsic filth and foulness of Nazism."

"Can it be after all these years that he has seen the light which reveals himself as a great deceiver in the greatest tragedy of all time? Has he come to Britain to make amends?"

Landed by Parachute

LONDON, May 13 — Rudolf Hess, head of the German Nazi party and one of the oldest and closest confidantes of Adolf Hitler, has landed by parachute in Britain under circumstances suggesting the most profoundly important desertion in all history.

The British government announced from the home of Prime Minister Churchill at No. 10 Downing street that Hess was in a Glasgow hospital under treatment for a broken ankle suffered in floating down from a German Messerschmitt fighter plane near there.

While the British treatment did not say that he had deserted, it made three observations of seeming inescapable significance:

That Hess had brought along photographs taken at varying years in his life to establish his identity if he was questioned.

Stress On "Hallucinations"

BERLIN, May 13—(AP)—Rudolf Hess "appears to have lived under the hallucination that he was still able to bring about an understanding between Germany and England through personal action with old English acquaintances," a Nazi party communique said today.

"In fact, as already confirmed through a report from London," the communique said, "he bailed out of a plane in Scotland near a place which he wanted to visit and apparently was found injured there."

"Rudolf Hess, as for years was known in the party, suffered seriously physically and recently resorted increasingly to various aids, mesmerizers, astrologers and so forth."

"In how far these persons also carry the blame for the mental derangement which induced him to take this step is also a point of investigation."

"It, however, also is inadmissible that in the last analysis Hess intentionally was lured into a trap by the British."

"The entire manner of his procedure confirms in any case the previously stated fact that he suffered from hallucinations. He knew of numerous 'peace proposals' of the fuhrer which came from deep in his heart better than any one else."

"Apparently he held the idea that he could forestall through personal sacrifice a development which, to his mind, would end only with complete destruction of the British Empire."

"Hess, whose field of duty lay exclusively within the party, has not had any clear conception about the execution or even about the consequences of his action as far as is discernible from his notes."

"The National Socialist party regrets that his idealism fell victim to such fateful delusion. This will not interfere with the continuation of the war against England forced upon the German people."

"It will be carried on until—as the fuhrer declared in his last speech—the British rulers are overthrown or ready for peace."

Jealousy Evident

MONTREAL, May 13—(Canadian Press)—The Montreal Herald quoted Otto Strasser, leader of the anti-Nazi Black Front, in a copy-right interview today as saying the flight of Rudolf Hess seemed to indicate that the German army chiefs and Hermann Goering seek to overthrow the Nazi party.

"Within one hour of the accession of Goering to power Goebbels and Heinrich Himmler would be shot dead," Strasser, a founder of the Nationalist Socialist party, was quoted as saying.

"That is why Hess, in my opinion fled for his life."

Goering, said Strasser, is closer to the Prussian army and the leading industrialists than anyone in Germany. Hess, on the other hand, has always been Hitler's closest and most trusted friend and a party leader with Hitler and Himmler.

Strasser, who fled Germany in 1931 after a break with Hitler, added that between Goering and Hitler, Hess, Goebbels and Himmler, "the most intense jealousy is evident."

"This is not a new story. It is an old story to those who have known Rudolf Hess—and I have known him for twenty years. He was born in Alexandria, Egypt, and therefore speaks English fluently. He was Hitler's private secretary. Hitler trusted him more than anyone in the world."

"The background of this schism between Goering and the army group and Hitler, Hess and Himmler—the three H's we call them in Germany—is the same background today."

"All is not so well in Germany as people would think. Within that country there is unrest. And this sudden and spectacular escape of one of Hitler's most trusted lieutenants is an indication of that unrest."

"No Bombs; No Worry"

GLASGOW, Scotland, May 13—(AP)—Rudolf Hess said on landing in Scotland last Saturday night that "I have no bombs in my plane, so you needn't worry."

The Nazi leader talked for ten minutes to home-guardsmen Robert Gibson and Jack Patterson, who were on duty at an airport near where Hess parachuted down.

"When we took him into our hut he was limping," Gibson said. "Obviously he had injured his ankle while landing by parachute."

After their talk, Hess was taken to a military hospital.

Gibson said that Hess volunteered this statement:

"I have no bombs in my plane so you needn't worry. I've been in the air for four hours."

"I left Germany in a Messerschmitt 110 Destroyer (airplane). Although I am a skilled pilot, I am really a German army officer."

Hess, said Patterson was "immaculately dressed. His uniform was made of the finest material and he wore very fine leather top boots."

"He appeared to be a little excited, but was perfectly sane and carried on a long conversation with us. He spoke English fluently."

"We offered him cigarettes, but he told us he didn't smoke. So when we asked him if he wanted a glass of milk he said 'Have you got milk?' As if surprised that we had any."

"He drank half a glass then asked if he could stretch his legs. He said: 'I feel a bit cramped. My legs are still from being in the plane so long. My ankle is a bit painful.'"

LONDON, May 13—(AP)—Photographs of the wreckage of the Messerschmitt fighting plane from which Rudolf Hess is said to have bailed out show the tail punctured by a number of machine-gun bullets.

British sources took this as an indication that pursuers—either German or British—tried to bring down the plane. The Messerschmitt is a wreck.

Parts of the plane were scattered over the Scottish moor, the engine half buried in the ground and the three-bladed propeller smashed. But the tail part was intact and showed at least ten closely spaced bullet holes.

(The possibility remained, however, that these holes might have been put in the plane before Hess' flight, when it might have been in the hands of a fighting airman.)

Will Complete Fort On Schedule

OMAHA, May 13—(AP)—Capt. Albert Fregosi, acting constructing quartermaster at Ft. Leonard Wood, near Newburg, Mo., predicted the completion schedule set for May 25 would be met without any difficulty.

The Seventh Zone Constructing Quartermaster's office at Omaha said general construction is 92 percent complete. Of 1,503 buildings under construction, 1,411 are ready now for occupancy by the army. Contractors are still at work on such items as painting and installation of heating equipment.

More than 50 miles of completed roadways and nearly 30 miles of railroad siding are ready and serving the various construction areas. And better than 35 miles of sewer lines are in place. Some 35 miles of water distribution lines are laid.

Approximately 4,500 troops are already occupying essential housing at the fort. Plans call for occupancy by 20,000 troops by June 1, with more than 40,000 men to be housed there eventually.

Ready for occupancy are 194 mess halls, 18 infirmaries, 569 barracks, 139 day rooms, 180 storehouses and 311 miscellaneous buildings.

Hess Flight Evidently Be Disturbing To Axis Powers to climb swiftly from range and without their torpedoes.

Hess has been closer to Hitler than any other person, and has exercised a tremendous influence on the Nazi leader. Together they have tread the path of revolution from prison twenty years ago to the heights of the present. Hess even supported the blood purge of 1934 when some of his close friends were removed.

The shock to the German people will be great, because not only have they respected Hess but in a considerable degree he participated in the spiritual leadership of the fuhrer. Indeed, it is probable that Hess has been mainly responsible for instilling in the minds of the people the spiritual aspect of Hitler's rule.

Always, while showing no ambition himself, Hess has preached the doctrine that Hitler "is the executor of a higher will." Out of Hess' teachings has grown the belief among many Germans that the fuhrer is indeed a messiah.

When you consider all these things, and the close relationship between Hitler and his greatest friend, the flight to Britain becomes even more inexplicable.

Colt Attacks Farm Youth

Ivan Harsch, thirteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harsch, suffered severe lacerations and bruises about 3 o'clock Monday afternoon when a young colt on his father's farm, six miles east of Mora, attacked and knocked him into unconsciousness.

Mr. Harsch found his son lying on the ground unconscious about 3:15 and rushed him to the Bothwell hospital, where X-rays revealed no broken bones.

He was able to be taken to his home this afternoon.

Desertion By Hess Blow To Nazi Morale

with old English acquaintances," the Nazi party announced officially today.

A qualified spokesman said that "the assumption that his curious conduct, which is a deep personal tragedy, was due to mental disorder is the most charitable view to be taken, and that view is to be held in view of the present knowledge."

Hitler, meanwhile, personally took over Hess' party office, formerly known as the "office of the deputy of the Fuhrer," and changed the title to "party chancellery."

Germans in responsible position took sharp issue with the British interpretation of events, which challenged the soundness of Hitler's action in designating a man pronounced mentally incompetent as successor to the party leadership after Goering.

"What happened 18 months ago (when he was made Hitler's deputy) was that Hess was not promoted to third rank Nazi," a spokesman said, "but was demoted from second place."

WASHINGTON, May 13—(AP)—Diplomatic circles seemed agreed today that the melodramatic flight of Rudolf Hess to Britain would be a great blow to the morale of the German people, no matter what explanation they accept.

Both the official German and the British accounts of the war's strangest episode, it was said, contain elements that can hardly be reassuring to the average man in the Third Reich.

These sources reasoned as follows:

The German version speaks of Hess' "failing health for years" and raises doubts as to his sanity, at least at the time he decamped. Inasmuch as Hess continued active in important government and Nazi party affairs almost to the end, the inevitable question arises as to Hess' mental condition for some time past.

In short, the German people may well wonder how long important affairs have been in the hands of a man of dubious mental stability.

The British account sows different seeds of doubt. It represents Hess, one of Hitler's closest associates, as deserting der fuhrer at the high tide of victory to surrender voluntarily in Great Britain. And it stresses his complete sanity.

Accepted in this light, Hess' flight can only dumbfound the average German, it was said. There never has been any question of Hess' loyalty to Hitler in the past. He had stuck to der fuhrer during the most discouraging days of the Nazi movement. Why this amazing turnabout? Did it mean he saw defeat ahead for the Reich? Had he lost faith in Hitler?

Diplomatic quarters here were frankly bewildered as to the complete significance of the entire matter. Apparently authoritative reports reaching the capital, however, agreed on three points: That Hess' identity had been established beyond doubt; that he was perfectly sane, and that he fled Germany for fear of his life.

Information has been reaching London for some time past, it was said, that relations in inner Nazi councils were strained, and Hess' flight was looked on as confirmation of such reports.

Out of Nazi Grasp

A likely reason for the breach, one informed source said, was disagreement over Germany's future military moves, but this makes for a strange denouement. Hess, it was explained, had been usually identified with the so-called left wing of Nazi officials who advocated a knock-out invasion of Britain, whereas the generals and right wing officials favored the Mediterranean and middle east theatre of operations for the present.

If that caused the break, then Hess did the amazing thing of seeking refuge in a country whose conquest he had been urging. However, it was pointed out that England probably was the only place in the old world where he would be out of Germany's reach.

Whatever the complicated background, the belief here was that British authorities were alive to the possibility of an audacious Nazi trap, or "plant," and would be exceedingly wary in making use of any information he might offer.

But should his good faith be established beyond doubt, it was pointed out, the British would have a wealth of highly reliable and valuable information at their disposal. The only comparable situation would be for one of Churchill's war cabinet to go over to Hitler, it was said.

There was some conjecture here as to why London had withheld news of Hess' capture almost three days. The general opinion was that Britain preferred to have the Nazis make the first announcement on the subject in the hope of a mistake that would have propaganda value later.

The fact that the German announcement hinted broadly at insanity was interpreted in some circles here as an attempt to discredit any information that Hess might give. A few persons went further and considered it evidence of Nazi apprehension that Hess had gone over completely to the enemy.

Fire Queries At Churchill

LONDON, May 13—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill announced in the house of commons today that a further statement would be made shortly about the surprising flight of Rudolf Hess to Scotland.

Replying to a request from Laborite H. B. Lees-Smith for a statement concerning Hess, Churchill said:

"I have nothing to add at present to the statement issued last night by his majesty's government, but obviously a further statement will be made in the near future regarding the flight to this country of this very high and important Nazi leader."

Sir Henry Morris-Jones, a Liberal, asked "will the news be handled with skill and imagination?"

"I was with the minister of information until a very late hour last night," Churchill replied. "I think this is one of those cases in which the imagination is somewhat baffled by the facts as they present themselves."

The house laughed heartily.

Laborite John James Lawson asked that "in view of German propaganda statements on the wireless that Hess was suffering from mental instability, has Mr. Churchill any information upon that point; is that particular disease limited to the chief of German propagandists?"

Churchill replied: "Obviously I have no information at the moment, but if further examination is made—" the rest of the sentence was lost by members jumping up to put supplementary questions.

Conservative Vyvyan Jones asked if Churchill would bear in mind "this gentleman's record of devotion to the vile genius of Europe." The prime minister did not reply.

Capt. Alex Stratford Cunningham-Reid asked:

"Does the prime minister consider it prudent to announce that Hess is in a Glasgow hospital? Is that not rather unfair to the people of Glasgow, who possibly may expect raid bombs?"

"Hess won't always be in Glasgow," Churchill responded.

alone—and will give all departments the amount of money they requested, regardless of budget recommendations.

The vote on the state department amendment came as W. B. Weakley, appropriations chairman, cautioned the members "we've got to find $6,000,000 some place" to finance the government this year and next. He said the state was facing a $3,000,000 deficit without appropriation boosts.

Several members urged adoption of the amendments so that the bill could get to the senate and be sent to a conference committee. The governor has the power to reduce all appropriations by veto.

"I'm tired of this let-George-do-it attitude of the house," protested Republican Floor Leader Elliott of St. Louis county, trying in vain to defeat the amendment. "We've reached the point in state and national affairs where we have no choice but to arrest the rising costs of government. We have got to economize."

Require Salaries Be Published

JEFFERSON CITY, May 12—(AP)—The senate passed and sent to the governor today a bill to require publication of the salaries of all state employees in the Blue Book, official state manual.

The bill was introduced by Rep. Walter Whitney (R) Lawrence county, and 17 other representatives.

To Reconsider Bill

JEFFERSON CITY, May 13—(AP)—The senate reversed itself today and voted to reconsider Senator Phil M. Donnelly's amendment to put burial societies under insurance department supervision.

The senate adopted the amendment last week.

Sen. L. N. Searcy (D) Eminence author of the bill, won reconsideration on a close 16 to 14 vote. Donnelly's amendment entirely rewrites Searcy's bill. Searcy wants the societies placed under the secretary of state.

Rep. Frank M. Robinson (D) of Jackson county, chairman of the house insurance committee, said two burial society bills pending in his committee would be combined in an attempt to meet a supreme court ruling that burial societies are "doing an insurance business" and should be placed under insurance department supervision.

Robinson is the author of one bill which would remove undertakers from burial societies and provide for payment of death benefits in cash only. The other bill, by Rep. Max Librach (D) St. Louis, provides for optional payment in cash or merchandise.

Father Witness In Murder Case

PLATTSBURG, Mo., May 13—(AP)—Fred Aitken testified today to tell of the slaying last September 1 of his 14-month-old daughter, Bertha Lorene Aitken. The child's aunt, Mrs. Ida Aitken, is on trial for first degree murder in the infant's death.

Circuit Judge Marion W. Walter of Jackson county presided as testimony got under way in the crowded Platte county court house. Judge R. B. Bridgeman of Oregon, Mo., disqualified himself by an affidavit of prejudice.

Dick Bennett, prosecutor at the time of the slaying and called in to assist R. Stuckey Harrington, his successor, made the opening statement.

Mrs. Brim Weds William Greer

Mrs. Nela Brim and William A. Greer, both of this city, were married at 12 o'clock noon, Sunday by Rev. John M. Vander Meulen, pastor of the Congregational Presbyterian church, at the church Sixth street and Osage avenue.

Attending the couple were the bride's daughter, Mrs. Carl Almquist, and her husband, Dr. Almquist, of Eldon. Mrs. Mattie Raines witnessed the ceremony.

A wedding dinner, attended by members of the wedding party, and Miss Jane Schlagel and Marion Greer of Kansas City, the latter a brother of the bridegroom, was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Greer left for Kansas City for a short honeymoon. Upon their return they are at home at the Ruby Lee apartments, Thirtieth street and Ohio avenue.

Mr. Greer is owner and manager of the Holland Motor company.

Urge A Speedup In Votes Recount

JEFFERSON CITY, May 12—(AP)—The legislature's contest committee today urged county officials throughout the state to speed the lagging recount of last November's votes for governor.

The committee suggested counties obtain whatever additional help may be necessary to finish the job quickly. The recount now is in its third week.

"We expect the leaders of both parties will co-operate in providing whatever additional help may be necessary," said Sen. Phil M. Donnelly (D) Lebanon, chairman of the contest committee.

He said members of the committee would confer this afternoon with Republican and Democratic headquarters officials about a proposal that the parties furnish volunteer counters to tag-end counties. The committee will reconvene late this afternoon to adopt formally a resolution containing the request to county officials.

Donnelly showed the committee a resolution adopted Saturday by the St. Louis county election board in which the board said it would welcome any aid that could be given it. Only about a dozen of more than 200 precincts have been counted in St. Louis county where Gov. Forrest C. Donnell's challenger, Lawrence McDaniel, indicated he expected to reënter his largest recount gain.

Donnelly said, however, he did not expect the contest committee's resolution to mention St. Louis county specifically.

Strike At Plant On Armament

Washington today in an attempt to settle the strike of 900 AFL craftsmen at the Boston naval base, where work was halted on a $3,000,000 drydock. The union men objected to the employment of WPA laborers and Civil Service workers on the project.

Two hundred employees of the Smoot Sand and Gravel corporation at Washington walked out demanding a 5 percent increase over their undisclosed wage scale. The strike threatened to delay important defense construction in the capital.

Although engineers and train yard service employees of the Atlanta, Birmingham & Coast railroad, voted to strike for higher wages, no date was set for the walkout.

While disputes arose at some of its big automobile plants, Detroit experienced violence as a result of a building trades teamsters strike. A truck driver was injured fatally, police said, in a fight between non-union drivers and lumber workers, and 16 other persons were hurt. The strikers seek union recognition and an increase in wages.

Negotiations proceeded at New York toward a new contract between CIO United Mine Workers and Southern Bituminous coal operators. The mines have resumed operations, after an April tie-up, under a temporary agreement adding $1 a day to the basic wage rate, which was $5.60 under the old contract.

Room For Men Be Provided

The county court has made arrangements to vacate the room in the southeast corner of the first floor of the court house and it will be fitted up as a rest and recreation room for the men. Since the court house was built, there has been a rest and lounge room for the women, but none for the men, and they have congregated in large numbers in the lobby on the first floor. Recently, on the recommendation of the grand jury, the benches were removed from the lobby, and the men had no place to congregate.

The county court feels that there should be a room for the men as well as the women, and they plan to fit it up with chairs and tables.

The county welfare officer, Mrs. Elmore McCurdy and the county health nurse, Miss Reba Gum, now in the room to be taken over, will have their office in the old YMCA building across the street.

Larger Quota From Missouri

JEFFERSON CITY, May 13—(AP)—Missouri probably will send about 9,000 draftees to the army during June.

The quota is almost equal to the total number of men called from Missouri since the draft began last fall.

Col. Claude C. Earp, draft director, said the first call—June 1 to June 10—would be for 3,000 recruits; 1,400 of them for Ft. Leavenworth and the remainder for Jefferson Barracks.

Two additional calls, each for about the same number of men, probably will be made during the month.

The draft so far has taken about 11,000 men from Missouri.

Find New Yorkers Dead In Plane

LEWISTOWN, Pa., May 13—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Brewster, New York socialites missing four days on a cross country pleasure flight, were found dead last night in the charred wreckage of their airplane atop a heavily wooded central Pennsylvania mountain.

The bodies were identified by Whitney Stone, a brother-in-law of Brewster, who accompanied searching parties to the top of Shade mountain, 25 miles south of here, soon after the wreckage was sighted by an airmail pilot.

State police said the ship had struck the top of the 1,800-foot mountain.

Corporal Preston C. Ortmeier reported from the scene that the bodies were "burned almost beyond recognition."

The discovery climaxed a three day search of heavily wooded mountains that once were known as aviation's "graveyard" because of the number of planes that met disaster there.

The Brewsters were en route to Warren, O., when they disappeared.

Wheat Quotas For Fair Price

Marketing quotas are designed to further the two fold purpose of the AAA wheat program to provide the consumer with the wheat he needs and to give the farmer a fair price, W. E. Ragar, chairman of the Pettis county AAA Committee, said yesterday in discussing the wheat quota referendum to be held May 31.

"Under the provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938," he said, "there can be no wheat loan if quotas are not approved. If this happens, the price of wheat will undoubtedly fall to the low world level of 35 cents a bushel."

Explaining that the wheat farmer now gets only about one cent from a loaf of bread that sells for eight or nine cents. Mr. Ragar said that if the farmer got parity prices for his wheat the retail cost of the loaf would not need to be increased by more than three-fourths of a cent. The additional cost would be more than balanced by the increased buying power of the farmer, he said.

Mr. Ragar stated experience has shown that wheat prices here little effect on human consumption of wheat. Very little more bread was eaten when wheat sold for 25 cents a bushel than when it sold for $1.50 a bushel.

"The present national emergency required us to carry larger wheat supplies than would be justified under normal conditions," Mr. Ragar declared. "But it is just as essential to the national welfare that wheat income be safeguarded. Marketing quotes offer farmers the opportunity to handle large wheat supplies safely and without undermining their income, by storing under seal the surplus not needed by the very limited market."

FROM THE 1940 ANNUAL REPORT

"The wide public acceptance of Phillips products is reflected in an unbroken record of increased sales each year since marketing activities began in 1927. During 1940, total sales of finished products amounted to 1,174,000,000 gallons. The increase of 66,000,000 gallons over 1939 volumes represented a greater percentage gain than for the industry as a whole."

Off the Beaten Path

In 1927, only an idea... today, sales of more than a billion gallons a year.

In 1927, Phillips 66 was the name of an innovation in motor fuel, a gasoline off the beaten path. Today, 66 million is the 1940 increase in gallons over the sales for 1939.

From the beginning, Phillips has devoted itself to producing and delivering "greater value for the money." From the beginning, Phillips has never hesitated to step from the beaten path in search of any product improvement which might give finer performance or money savings to motorists.

A company, and a product, which have grown so swiftly in so short a time must have supplied special benefits to car owners, must have given extra value to win such rapid recognition.

First to offer high test gasoline at the price of ordinary motor fuel... first to offer at all its stations the extra-powered gasoline resulting from the patented POLYMERIZATION process... Phillips is a leader in research, ready at all times to leave the beaten path to make Phillips 66 an unexcelled gasoline in its price class.

On this record, and on this determination, we sincerely believe today's summer-grade Phillips 66 Poly Gas merits a trial by every car owner. We invite you to stop for a trial tankful... at any Orange and Black 66 Shield.

SPOON FED

BY NORMAN CHANDLER, CHAIRMAN, NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS COMMITTEE

SUPPOSE a majority of the people of this democracy decided it wanted nothing but GOOD news about its government from now on.

Suppose this majority was of one race, one creed, one color. Suppose it willed that ITS ideas were RIGHT, therefore other ideas were wrong—and hence were to be suppressed.

This is a MAJORITY, don't forget; and we abide by the will of the majority in America. And, lastly, suppose this majority passed a law which said, in effect, "ALL of you must take the same medicine—from OUR bottle."

WHEN THAT HAPPENS, democracy is finished. Our forefathers put freedom of speech and thought BEYOND THE CONTROL of a mere majority. Those rights are guaranteed in the Constitution and can be repealed only if THREE-FOURTHS of the states agree.

The citizens of America have given their newspapers the task of reporting ALL the news, both good and bad. Look through the paper you are reading now. Notice how it reports facts, opinions, happenings of all kinds.

If you do not agree with the WAY it sees the world, you are perfectly free to write the editors your strongest criticism. But don't EVER deny ANY newspaper's right to report the truth as it sees the truth.

Don't EVER demand that all papers must agree with, say, the MAYOR, or the town's leading banker, or the University's most learned professor—or with YOU.

The majority of German citizens undoubtedly believes in Hitler. To this majority, Hitler can do no wrong, make no mistakes. Because all of Germany's NEWSPAPERS must go on, day after day, agreeing with all Hitler does!

If ever the time comes here when all Americans are fed from a single spoon, WE'LL have only one set of opinions. That might be DESIRABLE, but it's not DEMOCRACY.

Over 300 leading newspaper publishers join together to bring you this weekly message about the function of the press in a free nation. Newspaper Publishers Committee, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York City.

Three To Make Ready

By W. H. Pears

Copyright 1941, NEA Service, Inc.

YESTERDAY: Paula Jeffers, Chris Wentrich and Tony Beale have been pals through four years of college. Now, as commencement nears, Paula and Tony view the future seriously, but Chris refuses to mope over leaving Cardman. Paula begs him to be careful, not to get into any scrapes before graduation. Chris laughs at her fears, but does not promise.

CHAPTER II

THE memory of a kiss pulled Paula's mind away from Dr. Martin Lud's lecture. Usually his class was one of her favorites, but not today. She caught fragments of the talk, but her mind seemed only large enough to hold Chris. "Suppose we ask ourselves a question," Lud suggested. "What is the eventual aim of these..." Again Paula's mind drifted. What was the eventual aim of Chris? He had kissed her. That in itself was pretty startling. Long ago Chris had decided that love was too tame. The only effect a moonlight night had on him was to make him want to chase the moon. He asked of life only that it give him plenty of thrills and excitement.

Then why had he kissed her this morning? Was it simply to avoid making a promise? Or had she really sensed a tenderness in the touch of his lips? Paula tried to ignore the sudden jump of her heart at the thought. Why, the whole idea was silly! Chris was completely self-sufficient, yet... Paula shook her head impatiently. What was wrong with her? Moping like a high school girl over her first love!

For several moments she gave her undivided attention to Dr. Lud. But before she knew it her thoughts were flitting mocklike back to the flame that was Chris.

Paula Jeffers decided to face the issue squarely. She was in love with Chris. Before long, if she did nothing about it, Chris would walk under Cardman Arch and she might never see him again. Her only hope was to crack his brittle crust and find out what lay beneath. She must be alone with Chris often, without Tony...

Paula's eyes followed the diagonal slant of a sunbeam across the classroom. It stretched downward, bursting into white flame as it touched Kilo Sherwood's hair. Involuntarily Paula thought, "What a stunning creature!"

A NIMBUS of mystery hung about Kilo's slim shoulders. Little was known of her except that she headed the Anti-Fraternity League, a group of students whose goal was the elimination of fraternities and sororities from Cardman. They denounced "campus cafe-society" and harried their Greek-letter opponents at every opportunity.

Until recently no one had taken the League's activities seriously. Then it had made the mistake of kidnapping one by one the musicians playing for a Pan-Hellenic dance at which President Van Horn was guest of honor.

The following morning Van Horn issued an ultimatum. The faculty was tolerant. It held the principles of free speech and personal liberty sacred. But the League had gone too far. Either it would refrain from interfering with the rights of other groups or it would disband.

This statement had served merely to drive the League to cover. They now held their meetings in secret, their zeal unabated. Everyone on the campus knew it. Perhaps the faculty also knew it. If so, it let the matter rest, hoping possibly to avoid open dissension in Cardman.

Dr. Lud was saying, "I believe it is our duty to resist these changes..."

Illustrated by Carol Johnson

Paula had heard that this Kilo Sherwood was making a "big play" for Chris. Now Kilo was smiling, as Chris argued.

Paula saw Kilo Sherwood lean toward Chris, seated next to her, and whisper. Chris stopped nibbling an eraser, grinned. Kilo looked slim hands together, gave them a little shake of encouragement.

Suddenly Paula's body went cold. For weeks she had ignored rumors floating about the Gamma Tau house that Kilo was making a "big play" for Chris. Paula thought it impossible; she and Tony and Chris were together so much of the time. But now she sensed something more in their brief exchange of words than a passing comment on the lecture.

On the other side of the room she caught Tony Beale's grave eyes studying Kilo and Chris. Again she was aware of Dr. Lud's voice:

"And if we resist..." Chris Wentrich half rose to his feet and asked a question: "Dr. Lud, isn't that the trouble with things? Too many graybeards fighting changes?"

"Good, Wentrich!" Dr. Lud exclaimed, a slow smile pulling at his mustache. He was a stocky, dynamic man with prematurely gray hair. "At least my talk has succeeded in awakening you."

Bright spots of anger flamed in the boy's cheeks. "You're trying to shut me up with sarcasm," he accused.

"I'm sorry you feel that way, Wentrich," Lud said composedly. "To the contrary, I should like your opinions. Am I to take it that you're in sympathy with those who seek to change by force?"

"No!" Chris clenched his fists. "Not if you mean foreign stuff. I'll lick the first man that accuses me of that—even a professor!"

"Oh, Chris," Paula prayed mutely, "don't say anything more. Please be careful, Chris..."

But Chris was not finished. "Sometimes the people that run the show won't give you a break unless you use force. Cardman is ruled by a bunch of Greek-letter snobs..."

Dr. Lud cut in with authoritative crispness: "Time's up, Wentrich. We'll go no further today. Drop over to my office any time and I shall be glad to talk further with you."

For a terrible moment Paula thought Chris was going to retort. Then she saw Kilo give his arm a tug. Chris sat down.

Everyone was buzzing over Chris's outburst as Paula moved toward the door. Tony pushed his way through to her.

"Look, Paulie, we've got to get Chris alone tonight and pound some sense into his head. If that's been anyone but Dr. Lud, Chris'd be cooling his head in the Dean's office by now."

"I'm scared, Tony," Paula admitted. "Chris has got that look in his eye. I've seen it before. It means trouble. Remember when he let all the air out of Dean Larson's tires, and—"

"Paulie, those were kid jokes. But getting mixed up with this League outfit might be more serious. Oh, sure, I know they're just a bunch of brainless nuts, but Van Horn hates that sort of thing on the campus. He'll let them alone so long as they keep quiet. But if Chris starts running with them he won't let them keep quiet. Just before Commencement is no time to stir up trouble..."

Paula's lips trembled angrily. "Oh, Tony, Chris wouldn't have blown off if she hadn't!" Tony nodded. "I saw it, too, Paulie. But we mustn't get sore at Chris. We've got to keep him from doing something crazy."

"You're taking this thing pretty seriously, Tony," Paula's hazel eyes were shrewd. "Do you know something I don't?"

Tony met her gaze. "Bill Jenks has come over from the city. I saw him hanging around the Sweetland. That scandal sheet he works for doesn't waste time nor money on anything that isn't pretty sensational."

"But what could it be?" Paula asked. "I don't know," Tony admitted. "But my hunch is that something's in the wind, and that it concerns the League. That's why I want to talk to Chris tonight... Here he comes now. I'll beat it before he sees us with our heads together."

CHRIS looked a bit sheepish. "I gave the old boy a prod, didn't I, Paulie?"

"You certainly did!" Paula retorted. "Chris, why did you do it?"

"Because that 'no change' stuff burns me up!" "Look, Chris," Paula said. "I'm in a rush now to catch another class. How about you and Tony and me doing something tonight?"

"Tonight?" Chris shuffled his feet. "Well..."

Paula saw a silver-blond head approaching. It bent close to Chris's ear for an instant as Kilo said softly, "You won't forget to pick me up at 7:30, Chris?" Then she was gone.

Chris said weakly, "I—I'm sorry, Paulie, but I'm all tied up..." (To Be Continued)

Stamp News

SWIFT changes in the fortunes of war are reflected in stamps. A short time ago Greece overprinted 16,000 stamps of the national youth series with the words "Greek Administration" for use in occupied Albania. German successes will probably be followed by occupational stamps in Jugoslavia and Greece.

Collectors who were ready to close the book on British Somaliland are now expecting British overprints of Italian East Africa and Italian Somaliland issues. Italy has added three values to the Axis solidarity set, picturing Hitler and Mussolini. Hitler's 52nd birthday brought out another stamp in honor of the Fuehrer.

Poster stamps will help finance Jewish relief in Poland. A nationwide campaign has been launched by the American Federation for Polish Jews.

State collections of motor vehicle fuel taxes during the last 11 years, 1930-1941 inclusive, have totaled $6,964,400,000, while receipts for motor vehicle licenses and drivers' licenses during this period totaled $3,756,600,000.

Federal manufacturers excise taxes for the last eight years, 1933-1940 inclusive, on motor vehicles, parts and accessories, tires and tubes, gasoline and lubricants totaled $2,422,000,000, an average of $302,600,000 annually.

Sports Roundup

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
NEW YORK, May 13 — (The Special News Service) — Broadway newsreel crowds applauded every time Hank Greenberg is shown in an army uniform—When and if Ty Cobb and Babe Ruth meet in that golf match, the old Bam probably will remind Ty of the time he struck out Cobb, Sam Crawford and Bobby Veach of the Tigers with the bases loaded—Freddie Corcoran, who knows his golf onions, tabs Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., as a real dark horse in the national open. This 20-year-old turned pro in the Greensboro open and finished in the money. Last week he tied Clayton Heafner for first place in the Carolina open, then won

The Sports Parade

Up in Boston they refer to Joe Dimaggio merely as Dom Dimaggio's brother—Eddie Rickenbacker is writing friends he positively will attend the Indianapolis 500-mile race—and that's great news for all—Pete Coscarart would be playing second base for Montreal if the Giants would let him get out of the league—George Abrams, Ken Overlin's stablemate, will headline the army-navy boxing show Gene Tunney is staging Saturday at Jacksonville—Larry MacPhail is so high on television he is toying with the idea of piping the world's series into a half-dozen Brooklyn theaters—if the Dodgers are in there, of course—"The Sporting News" has issued its 1941 record book and it's a "must" on your sports reading program.

Today's True Story

Two weeks ago a friend long-distanced Hank Greenberg from Honolulu—He said: "You've got to have more power if you're going to start hitting homers—I'm sending you four cases of pineapples"—Last Tuesday the pineapples arrived—and on Wednesday Hank hit his first two homers of the year.

It All Happened Here

Johnny Riemenschneider, pitching for the Whittens (Ia.) highs, whiffed 21 batters in a seven-inning game to win, 16-0. Just to rub it in, he homered, doubled and singled—And down in Mississippi, Perkins Junior college made 14 runs, 14 hits and 14 errors while beating Wood Junior, which made five runs, five hits and five errors—Don't look now, but 55 runs have been piled up against the Emory and Henry baseballers in their past two games—and this paradox may interest you: The Arizona State Bulldogs have won the Border conference football title two years in a row and both times met an eastern team in Sun Bowl games, but still haven't been able to lick the red ink. Even the college stationery is lettered in red.

To Father's Bedside

Hurler Warneke Wins For Cards

PITTSBURGH, May 13—(AP)—Veteran Lonnie Warneke, the Arkansas hillbilly with the bull-whip pitching arm, threw a seven-hit ball game Monday and the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-2, to sweep the two-game series.

Only Vince DiMaggio gave Lonnie trouble as the crafty right-hander sailed smoothly to his fourth triumph of the season. Vince robbed Warneke of a shut-out by blasting a bender out of the park in the fifth inning to score a runner ahead of him and he singled later.

The cards kept pecking away at Ken Heintzelman's left-handed shoots, scoring runs singly in the second, fourth, fifth and sixth innings.

After Heintzelman had been removed for a pinch-hitter, the cards collected their final two runs in the seventh off another southpaw, Dick Lanahan.

The victory inched the second place Cards a half game closer to the league leading Brooklyn Dodgers who were idle today. A game and a half now separates the contenders.

Only other game scheduled in the National League was Chicago at Cincinnati, in which the Cubs laced three Red hurlers for a 12 to 1, 14-hit victory.

Mrs. Leach Was Guest Speaker

Mrs. Frank S. Leach was the guest speaker for the annual May luncheon program of the Interdenominational Church Women's group at Pilot Grove on May 10. The luncheon and program was sponsored by the National Committee of Church Women, and like programs were held in 500 cities and towns of this country representing 46 states, Hawaii and Canada, which formed a beautiful expression of Christian unity and fellowship enjoyed by thousands of women all over this country.

Mrs. C. M. Shepherd of Pilot Grove served as the efficient chairman for her community and no effort was left undone for the success of this occasion. The luncheon was held in the dining room of the Presbyterian church at one o'clock. The tables were elaborately decorated with roses and baskets of spring flowers and the plans of the luncheon were carried out in keeping with spring.

The favors were made in Kansas City and were dainty, hand-painted pansies, which were admired and cherished by all. After the luncheon the large number of guests repaired to the auditorium of the church for Mrs. Leach's lecture on "Christ in Art."

She delineated the story of Christ's birth, life, death and resurrection, as she had studies of it from legends, traditions, history and the Bible. She told of the world's greatest paintings, as inspired by the Christ, Michael Angelo, Titan, Rembrandt, Rubens, Gabriel and Raphael. Of famous wood carvings, sculpture, mosaics, wax figures of our Lord and of magnificent stained glass windows that portray the life of the Savior.

She had for display, her own copy of the famous painter Gilbert Max the Austrian's picture of "Christ of the Veronica Handkerchief," which she considers the most beautiful picture ever painted of Christ. It possesses a peculiar quality, by some strange optical illusion the eyes appear to open and close. She graphically portrayed the life, sufferings, death and resurrection of the Christ in word pictures that held her large audience through each delineation. A reception was tendered to Mrs. Leach at the close of the meeting in appreciation for her efforts in bringing to them, a message that touched the hearts of all.

Holds Wage Hour Law Necessary

CHICAGO, May 14—(AP)—General Philip S. Fleming asserted today that wage and hour legislation was an indispensable instrument of efficient production essential to national defense.

"No nation," he said, "can mobilize its industry to maximum output if it permits its employers to pay whatever wages and to work labor whatever hours they choose."

The administration of the wage and hour division of the U. S. labor department discussed the relation of defense to the legislation # in an address prepared for the Chicago regional meeting of the Catholic conference on industrial problems.

General Fleming asserted that increasing the work week would not necessarily insure increased production, that Britain had learned that fatigue from long hours resulted in a decline of productive efficiency.

Long hours in factories devoted to the manufacture of sensitive military equipment requiring precision adjustments were termed "not merely economically unsound but close to criminal folly."

The administrator said that a prospective shortage of skilled labor behooved industry not to waste experienced craftsmen on machines which can be tended by semi-skilled workers.

Fleming asserted that he had received a report from the U. S. employment service indicating that many employers were refusing to hire alien and Negro craftsmen "with consequent detriment # to national defense production."

"I do not doubt," he added, "that these very employers will be among the first to claim that time and a half for overtime is to blame for their inadequate production."

And complete Touraide information about accommodations and play spots lets you figure the best use of every dollar. Your Free Touraide does not obligate you to buy one drop of Conoco Bronz-z-z gasoline and Conoco Germ Processed Oil. Even the good will generated by Conoco Touraides couldn't bring Your Mileage Merchant as many customers as he gets from the demand for maximum mileage. And that takes full-firing, hill-powered, seasonally adjusted Conoco Bronz-z-z gasoline, used in an engine that's OIL-PLATED. OIL-PLATING is bonded to inner engine surfaces by the action of Germ Processed oil—patented. OIL-PLATING can't all quickly drain down "between times." Small chance, then, of ruinous "dry starts," or "dry spots" on swift-flying parts. That keeps engine parts close-fitting... helps keep up the oil level! OIL-PLATING is as advanced in its way as your Conoco Touraide—FREE. Apply today at your nearest Conoco station.
